Member Comments:

After two rather discouraging meetings with other contractors, I came across the Patios by B & B ad in a recent Angie's List magazine, and decided to contact them; which proved to be a fortunate decision. I called Paul Goldman, the owner/designer, and made arrangements to meet with him the following day. At the meeting, we discussed my desires for the rather extensive (over 500 sq. ft.), three part system involving existing brick posts, large beams, and numerous planters, along with his excellent suggestions for dealing with them. The following day Paul presented his plans, estimated price, and start date for the following week - I signed the contract. On each of the four days the project took to complete, Paul arrived early and discussed with me and his crew leader, Jose, the plans for the day. Jose and his crew always were prompt, professional, and a pleasure to work with; and most important, the project they completed was well built and beautiful. I would also commend the crew members for the great care they took to protect all of the existing shrubs, planters, and statuary they had to work around. During the past fifty years my wife and I have owned several homes and dealt with numerous home improvement contractors, and we both agree that Paul Goldman and his company, Patios By B & B, are among the very finest. We highly recommend them!!!! .
